President Murmu at the Global Spirituality Mahotsav in city

President Droupadi Murmu on Friday said mutual respect and cooperation by the followers of different religions is not only helpful, but also necessary for world peace. Murmu, who graced and addressed the Global Spirituality Mahotsav at Kanha Shanti Vanam on the city outskirts said our culture based on spirituality has always kept the message of "world as a family" at the center. "In our dialectical traditions, instead of proving any one philosophy right or wrong, we believe that all paths lead to the truth and must be respected," she said. The person who looks at everyone with equanimity is considered a Yogi and this sense of equality is the foundation of our spiritual tradition, Murmu added. P4
